

One School, One Book

South Lewis Middle School Proudly Presents to You...

WONDER

By Raquel Jaramillo (RJ) Palacio

Wonder

- We will all be reading this book from today through Feb. vacation
- Today you will get a calendar with the chapters to read each night
- We encourage you to read this with your parents each night
- You will get your copy of the book and a bookmark

What is this book about?

- It's about a character Auggie, who is fictional, and Auggie has Treacher Collins Syndrome, which means he has major deformities to his face
- Let's meet a real child, Nolan, who has Treacher Collins Syndrome, and find out from him and his mom what they think of the movie Wonder, which is based on the book you are about to read
- Meet Nolan and His Mom

Questions

- Every day or two we will ask a question on the announcements about the book
- If you know the answer, which if you do the reading, then you will know the answer, your name will get put in a drawing to win a prize
- These answers will get collected in your first period class, right after the announcements – no sharing answers!
- First period teachers will drop off the answers to the main office

Precepts

- Definition of precept
- 1 : a command or principle intended especially as a general rule of action

Each day a student from the middle school will be chosen to select a precept (quote) on the morning announcements, and explain what meaning that precept has to them and/or the book Wonder.

Stickers

- Students will all be given a card to collect stickers on. Wonder stickers can be given out by any adults in this building, starting today. The students who earn the most stickers will be recognized.
- What actions will earn you a sticker:
 - Showing an act of kindness
 - Helping others
 - Using manners and being polite
 - More

Read Aloud of Chapter 1

- Read aloud of the beginning of the book.
 - Mr. Worczak, Board of Education President
- Guest readers will be reading each chapter, and these are posted on the school web-site. Therefore, if you aren't able to read the chapters with your parents, and you'd like to listen to a guest reader, as you follow along, you are welcome to do this any time.
