

South Lewis “Tip of the Month”

Dec '16

POWERFUL Instruction

The Power of Music

There is a great deal of research on the power of playing music in classes to establish a positive tone. As students enter your classroom you could have music playing from your Smartboard (through iTunes as MP3 files). Also, even during class, you can play soft background music when students are working in groups or independently, as long as it doesn't interfere with their concentration. You might even select music that pertains to the lesson, when appropriate, to build excitement and suspense about the daily topic.

Play Music as Students
Enter the Room